OPPOSITION TO APPLICATION FOR REVIEW

The Board of County Commissioners for La Plata County, Colorado (“the County”) hereby opposes the Application for Review (“AFR”) filed by Hearst Properties Inc., KOB-TV, LLC, and Nexstar Broadcasting, Inc.¹ (together “the Albuquerque Broadcasters”) of the Federal Communications Commission (“FCC” or “Commission”) Media Bureau’s (“Bureau”) March 1, 2017 order modifying the local markets of Denver television stations KDVR-TV, KCNC-TV, KMGH-TV, and KUSA-TV to include La Plata County, Colorado.²

La Plata County has long been assigned by Nielsen to the Albuquerque, New Mexico designated market area (“DMA”). As such, La Plata County has been “orphaned” by Nielsen due to its assignment to an out-of-state DMA and consumers have been deprived of the ability to receive from a satellite carrier their preferred in-state television broadcast stations. Consumers in La Plata County have up until now been unable to receive from a satellite carrier important news from their own state capital, and sports fans in the County have had far fewer opportunities to enjoy televised sporting events such as Denver Broncos football games, Colorado Rockies baseball games, and other important and relevant programming. The Bureau adopted an order modifying the local market of the Denver Big-4 network stations that paves the way for satellite carriers to bring long-desired Colorado-oriented programming to La Plata County. The Commission should reject the self-serving attempt by the Albuquerque Broadcaster to reverse that pro-consumer decision.

I. LA PLATA COUNTY'S STANDING

La Plata County, Colorado participated in the proceeding below as the original petitioner seeking a market modification order pursuant to Section 338 of the Communications Act and Sections 76.7, 76.59, and 76.66 of the Commission's rules under which the local markets of Denver, Colorado TV stations KDVR-TV, KCNC-TV, KMGH-TV, and KUSA-TV would be modified to include La Plata County with respect to satellite TV provider DISH Network and satellite TV provider DIRECTV.³ The Order granting the Petitions carried out Congress's explicit intent in the STELA Reauthorization Act of 2014 ("STELAR")⁴ to empower the FCC to address the plight of orphan counties like La Plata County, and did so in a manner consistent with the Commission's own rules and precedent. As such, the Order should stand and the AFR should be denied.

³ See Petition for Special Relief (KDVR) of La Plata County, Colorado, MB Docket 16-366 (filed Sept. 7, 2016) (KDVR Petition); Petition for Special Relief (KCNC) of La Plata County, Colorado, MB Docket 16-367 (filed Sept. 7, 2016) (KCNC Petition); Petition for Special Relief (KMGH) of La Plata County, Colorado, MB Docket 16-368 (filed Sept. 7, 2016) (KMGH Petition); and Petition for Special Relief (KUSA) of La Plata County, Colorado, MB Docket 16-369 (filed Sept. 7, 2016) (KUSA Petition) (collectively, the Petitions).

II. THE AFR DISREGARDS CONGRESS' EXPLICIT INTENT TO ADAPT THE MARKET MODIFICATION RULES TO ADDRESS ORPHAN COUNTIES

The AFR dismisses and mischaracterizes both the plain language and the legislative intent behind STELAR, which was to provide an efficient mechanism for orphan counties like La Plata County to overcome decades of disenfranchisement and finally access important state and local programming long-desired by La Plata residents. The AFR's assertion that "the Order effectively establishes a per se evidentiary standard under which the 'access to in-state signals' factor (new factor three) trumps all other factors"⁵ is both an inaccurate description of the Bureau's analysis in the Order and ignores how Congress intended the satellite market modification framework to operate. There was no "new standard" created;⁶ the Bureau faithfully followed the analysis set forth in STELAR and its implementing rules in the manner that Congress intended. That analysis led to the Bureau's pro-consumer determination to allow La Plata County residents to have expanded choice and coverage from broadcast television stations via satellite carriers, and the Order should stand.

As an initial matter, the Bureau did not weight the in-state signals factor to the exclusion of the other factors. Instead, it followed the procedures the Commission adopted in the order adopting the market modification rules for satellite, and moreover acted consistent with precedent in another satellite market modification adopted earlier in 2017. The Bureau stated in the Order that STELAR requires it to determine, among other things, "whether the petition demonstrates that a modification to the station's television market is warranted, based on the five statutory factors and any other relevant information.”⁷ The Bureau, in turn, examined each of the five statutory factors with respect to each of the four Denver TV stations at issue, which represents paragraphs 24 through 59 of the Order.

The Bureau weighted each of those factors as supporting, opposing, or having no effect on the underlying market modification petition. At no time, with respect to any of the four Denver stations, did the Order weight the in-state signals factor (factor three) to the exclusion of the other four. The Order is also consistent with the approach the Commission indicated it would take in processing market modification applications: “each petition for market modification will turn on the unique facts of the case, and there is no single universal way to weight the statutory factors.”⁸

In this proceeding, the Bureau gave exactly the right degree of weighting to the in-state signals factor in the Order, and did so in a way that faithfully carries out Congress’s directives. STELAR’s drafters seemingly recognized that orphan counties like La Plata County are underserved by the out-of-state TV stations that Nielsen insists they receive from satellite carriers, rather than stations focused on serving the needs of their own state’s residents. The FCC’s cable market modification rules, which have been in effect for years, were adapted for use in the orphan county context. Those rules offered a ready-made regulatory protocol under which the FCC could quickly give relief to counties like La Plata. Congress could have used other approaches, such as compulsory licenses or legislation tailored to address a specific orphan county situation, such as the four targeted orphan county fixes found in Section 122 of the Copyright Act, 17 U.S.C. § 122(a)(4). But it did not.

⁸ Amendment to the Commission’s Rules Concerning Market Modification; Implementation of Section 102 of the STELA Reauthorization Act of 2014, Report and Order, MB Docket No. 15-71, 30 FCC Rcd 10406, 10421, ¶ 8 (2015) (“STELAR Market Modification Report and Order”).

Instead, Congress directed the FCC to adapt the cable modification rules to help harness the power of satellite TV carriers to meet the needs of orphan counties. As the committee report notes, “[t]he Committee intends that the process established by the FCC under the authority granted by section 102(a) of the bill should be modeled upon the television market modification process established by the FCC under section 614(h),” which address cable television providers.⁹ Congress did not intend, however, for the FCC to blindly adopt those exact same procedures without regard for the underlying policy goals of STELAR:

The Committee is aware that many consumers, particularly those who reside in DMAs that cross State lines or cover vast geographic distances, have expressed concerns that they lack access to local television programming that is relevant to their everyday lives. The Committee intends that the FCC should consider the plight of these consumers when judging the merits of a petition filed under the process created by this subsection (as well as a petition filed using the process already in place for cable operators under section 614(h)) of the Communications Act, even if granting such modification would pose an economic challenge to various local television broadcast stations.¹⁰

For this reason, the FCC considers all five statutory factors in totality, and has the discretion to give extra weight to whether the market modification would promote access to in-state programming. And the Commission could not have been clearer in its explicit recognition and acceptance of this Congressional directive when it adopted the satellite market modification rules: “Section 102 of the STELAR, and the Commission’s actions in this Report and Order, seek to establish a market modification process for the satellite carriage context and, to the extent possible, address satellite subscribers’ inability to receive in-state programming in certain areas, sometimes called ‘orphan counties.’”¹¹ Fixing orphan counties by increasing access to in-state programming is not merely a pleasant side effect of satellite market modification rules adopted in STELAR. It is, in fact, a key goal of Congress's efforts in this regard.

III. THE BUREAU'S ANALYSIS OF THE ADEQUACY OF LOCAL SERVICE WAS CONSISTENT WITH STELAR'S MANDATE TO ADDRESS THE INFORMATION NEEDS OF ORPHAN COUNTIES

The AFR attempts to accuse the Bureau of conflating “localized” programming and programming of “statewide interest.”¹² But here again, Congress could not have been clearer in its instructions regarding how the FCC should use the market modification rules when evaluating petitions designed to address orphan counties. In describing a statutorily-required FCC report on better promoting localism in serving orphan counties, the Senate Commerce Committee clarified that it “intends that the FCC’s report will interpret local programming to include not only television programming (in particular news, sports, weather, and other programming containing content relevant to a consumer’s daily life) originating from and about the DMA in which a consumer resides, but also television programming originating from and about the State in which a consumer resides.”¹³ To the extent the Bureau considered the adequacy of Albuquerque TV station coverage of issues that are important to any and all residents of the State of Colorado (regardless of proximity to Denver), it was directly following Congress’s instructions in terms of how to evaluate local service to orphan counties.

In any event, La Plata County today is deprived equally of both kinds of programming. The Albuquerque TV stations that La Plata County viewers can receive from satellite provide inadequate coverage of both (a) news and information programming specific to the Southwest region of Colorado and (b) news and information of interest to all Colorado residents, such as coverage of the Colorado governor's office, legislation, and taxes. Attached as Appendix A is a small sampling of issues of concern to Coloradans in La Plata County that were covered by one or all of the top four Denver stations, but seem to have received inadequate to no coverage by the Albuquerque ABC, CBS, FOX or NBC stations. The top-four Denver stations provided superior or exclusive coverage compared to the Albuquerque TV stations on topics such as:

¹² AFR at ii (“The Order makes access to such ‘in-state’ programming a proxy for localism that supersedes the promotion of the true, localized programming that the Albuquerque Stations provide to La Plata County viewers—i.e., news, weather, and community affairs—that the Denver Stations do not.”)

Sampling of Inadequately Covered Statewide Issues:¹⁴

- the Colorado gubernatorial campaign;
- the top policy priorities for Colorado's governor;
- the Colorado governor's "State of the State" address;
- a variety of key Colorado state legislative issues such as the state budget deficit, texting-while-driving bills, marijuana regulation, rural healthcare, and transportation funding; and
- priorities and initiatives of Colorado's elected officials to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives.

Sampling of Inadequately Covered Local Issues for La Plata County:¹⁵

- water rights and rain barrel regulations;
- mountain lions near schools;
- Durango resident caught in an avalanche;
- public water fluoridation; and
- La Plata County's efforts to secure an FCC market modification to be able to receive superior TV service.

The AFR asks the Commission to ignore the fact that La Plata County's citizens have a profound interest in receiving information about the same political and public affairs coverage as every other Coloradoan. La Plata County citizens pay Colorado state taxes, have the same right to vote for the state's governor and legislature, and must follow the same state laws as every other Colorado resident. La Plata's highway driving distance from Denver is irrelevant to these plain facts.¹⁶ Albuquerque TV stations likely will never cover these important civic issues as diligently as TV stations that broadcast from Colorado's state capital. The AFR, like the obstructionist filings from these same parties since the start of this proceeding, is nothing more than an attempt to thwart competition and deny residents of La Plata County the choice to access the in-state local broadcast stations they have long desired. Moreover, La Plata County's requested relief in its initial Petition would not have reduced the local market areas of any Albuquerque TV stations. La Plata County's long-disenfranchised citizens simply want the ability to receive from satellite carriers the local broadcast affiliates from their own state capital. No La Plata County resident would lose access to the Albuquerque stations.

IV. THE BUREAU DID NOT ERR IN ITS ANALYSIS OF THE EVIDENCE PRESENTED

As required by STELAR, the Bureau determines whether to grant a market modification based on consideration of five statutory factors. These factors reflect the four factors previously applicable to market modifications in the cable context, plus the additional in-state factor discussed above. The AFR fails to demonstrate that the Bureau erred in its review of La Plata County's evidentiary showings in the Petitions.¹⁷ The AFR, like the previous filings from the Albuquerque Broadcasters, disregards without any justification the evidence provided by La Plata County to address the five statutory factors required by STELAR and the Commission's rules, and attempts to dismiss the significance of the in-state factor entirely.

¹⁶ AFR at 24 ("The Bureau nowhere in the Order even mentions the fact that Denver is more than 300 miles and 7 hours by car away from La Plata County; remarkably, the Bureau was able to find a sufficient market nexus—a 'local relationship'—between the Denver Stations and the County despite their distance and the intervening Rocky Mountains.") (internal citations omitted).

¹⁷ AFR at 19

As an initial matter, each of the five statutory factors was addressed by La Plata County in its Petitions.¹⁸ Regarding the in-state factor, which the Commission has explained receives “enhanced weight,” the Petitions explained that because La Plata County is assigned to the Albuquerque, New Mexico DMA, all of its local broadcast content available by satellite is oriented to the interests of a different state. As the La Plata County Commissioners have previously explained, “La Plata County residents feel disenfranchised and disadvantaged by the lack of access to Denver programming,” and want to receive “news, as well as educational, sports and other programming, from our own state capital.”¹⁹ The Petitions therefore satisfied the third factor by laying the groundwork for satellite carriers to deliver in-state local broadcast station from Denver, Colorado’s state capital.

In addition, the first, second, and fifth factors all relate to historical or current opportunity to view the Station in La Plata County (the first and second factors), and whether the residents of the County have availed themselves of such opportunities (the fifth factor). Since the purpose of STELAR was to facilitate access to in-state broadcast programming, the Petitions explained that neither a lack of historical carriage or coverage, nor a commensurate lack of historical viewing patterns for the Station, should weigh against the requested market modification. Because La Plata County has long been assigned by Nielsen to an out-of-state DMA, STELAR’s market modification provision marks the first opportunity for the County to receive the Station’s signal over satellite. Given this lack of historical carriage, residents of the County have had scant opportunity to develop any viewing patterns for the Station. It is precisely this lack of opportunity to view, via satellite TV, an in-state network-affiliated station that the Petitions intended to remedy. In addition, the Petitions explained that regarding the fourth factor, the La Plata County is unaware of another in-state local broadcast station carried by a satellite or cable provider in the County that offers Denver- and Colorado-oriented news coverage of issues of concern to residents of the La Plata County. The Petitions also addressed each of the evidentiary showings necessary to support the original market modification request.²⁰

The Bureau's analysis of La Plata County's orphan county fix is also consistent with the reasoning adopted in a similar case – the addition of Ashland County and Iron County (which are assigned to the Duluth, Minnesota market) in Wisconsin to the local market of WSAW-TV of Wausau, Wisconsin. There, as in the Order, the Bureau clearly articulated why evidentiary showings in orphan county-related market modifications must be evaluated with an eye to Congress's policy goals. For example, as it relates to evidentiary showings for geographic proximity between an orphan county and the desired in-state TV station, the Bureau explained: “we find that tests based on geographic proximity, which have historically been considered important for demonstrating a market nexus between a station and a community, are of significantly reduced relevance in the orphan county context.”²¹ Rather than take a blindly formal view of the established cable market modification rules, the Bureau in that proceeding rightly asks how to thoughtfully adapt those rule to meet the needs of orphan counties as explicitly directed by Congress: “To hold orphan county market modification petitions to [] pre-STAR standards would frustrate the will of Congress, which instructed us to ‘consider the plight’ of viewers in these counties.”²²

V. CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, La Plata County urges the Commission to deny the AFR and allow the Bureau’s Order to stand.
